

Wild
About Arts

Wild About Arts Photography Project

This participatory project was led by Dr Caroline Molloy, University for the Creative Arts and Toby De Silva, South Hill Park with the 11-17 year old Wild About Arts Group. The project uses photography to foster teamwork and collaboration through shared ideas and creative challenges. It included a range of photographic workshops that encouraged the participants to 'play' with photography and think creatively about the local context and history of South Hill Park. Collecting materials and sharing cameras at times none of us could remember who took which photographs so authorship of the images became collectively shared. The project was funded by University for the Creative Arts with UKRI AA research funding and exhibited at South Hill Park summer 2026 as well as contained in this publication. Hand-written feedback from the participants can be found throughout the publication.

Wild About Arts

•The Teachers are Very nice

oh I should do Art all the time

good skill

Art
Photography

How to photography!

B

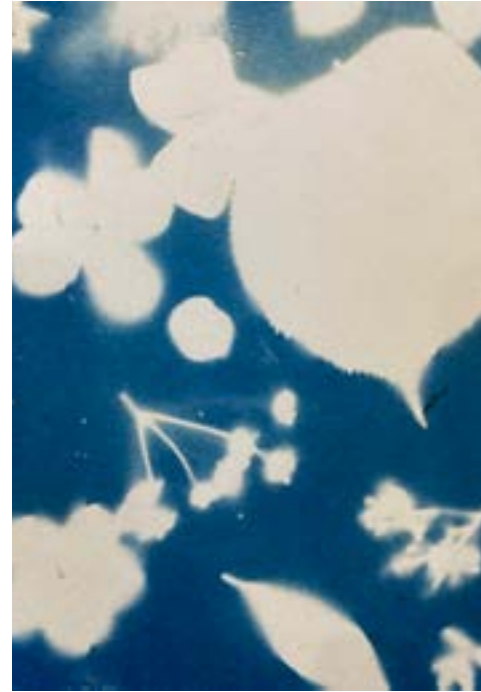

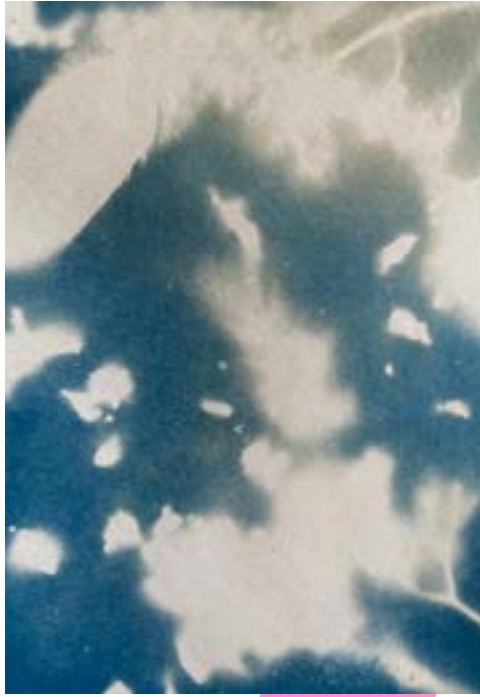

A

I Should Do Photography
GCES?

using a camera

Throw away
My heart
Because this Ending

S

Ashling Elodie
Jazmeen
Kai
Kyra Maddie
Phoebe
Sam

Project Leads:
Dr Caroline Molloy, Toby De Silva

Publication Design:
Ella Stevenson
@ellas_design_graphic

Special thanks for Huba Chandra for her assistance with this project.

Wild About Arts

